INTRODUCTION

THE KRUGERRAND STORY

On 3 July 1967, the South African Mint, through a South African Reserve Bank and Chamber of Mines of South Africa mandate, struck the first 1 oz 22 carat gold bullion coin. Gold has always personified ultimate wealth and prestige, and for collectors no other metal can match the quality and lustre of coins struck in fine gold. Gold also fulfilled a patriotic duty.

During the late 1960s and early 1970s, when South Africa's annual gold production averaged 75% of total gold output in the western world, the promotion of gold was considered vital, especially following the collapse of the Gold Standard in 1971. The idea behind the Krugerrand was to put gold in the hands of the 'man on the street' by making smaller pieces available to the public at an affordable price. Containing 1 troy ounce of pure gold the 1 oz Krugerrand became the first legal tender gold coin and the vehicle to drive the demand for South African gold.

In 1980, the fractional Krugerrands (1/2 oz, 1/4 oz and 1/10 oz) were added to the range to assist the smaller buyer in acquiring gold at an affordable price. In the same year, the Krugerrand had become the universally preferred means of trading gold, at one point accounting for a colossal 90% of the global gold coin market.

Interestingly, although Krugerrands are legal tender, they do not have a face value (denomination). The value of each coin is directly related to the value of its gold content, based on the daily gold price. Krugerrands are issued as bullion coins made in unlimited quantities for investors, as well as proof-quality collectors' coins made in limited quantities with a certificate of authenticity.

Today, the Krugerrand is regarded as the world's most widely held and actively traded gold bullion coin.

INTRODUCTION

THE SOUTH AFRICAN MINT STORY

The South African Mint is one of the world's leading mints and has over the years earned a worldwide reputation for its appealing designs, exceptional craftsmanship and the high quality of its coins, winning numerous international awards in the process.

The South African Mint is a wholly owned subsidiary of the South African Reserve Bank (SARB), and falls within the bank's 'Currency Cluster' established in accordance with the SARB

Act, which authorises the SARB to 'coin coins or cause coins to be coined'. The two divisions that make up the Mint - Circulation Coins and Collectable Coins (formerly Numismatics) - are responsible for the production of South Africa's circulation coins (for the local and export markets) and collectable coins respectively.

The Krugerrand is minted by the South African Mint, in partnership with sister company, Rand Refinery.

With the exception of a maximum 2000 limited edition World Money Fair 2017 1/10 oz gold bullion coins and a maximum 2000 units of the 1oz gold bullion coins, the 50th anniversary privy mark is only applied to proof and premium uncirculated Krugerrand 50th anniversary coins.

INTRODUCTION

50 YEAR ANNIVERSARY

In celebration of half a century of gold coin minting we introduce the most monumental coin yet: the 50 oz Gold Proof Krugerrand Coin. Representing an ounce for every year since the minting of the very first Krugerrand in 1967, this coin carries the consequence of 50 years of coin craftsmanship and artistry.

In addition to the 50 oz gold proof coin, a host of new gold proof coins have been added, including a 5 oz gold proof on the larger end of the spectrum as well as a 1/20 oz gold proof and a once-o 1/50 oz gold proof on the smaller end. In another daring new approach, limited edition 1 oz Krugerrands are now being minted in both silver and platinum to add diversity and distinction to the range.

The iconic design of the original gold bullion coin is carried through the 2017 anniversary range in the various sizes and metals. The design on the reverse depicts a prancing springbok, South Africa's national animal, originally designed and engraved by Coert Steynberg. The prancing springbok was first depicted on the 1947 5 shilling coin which celebrated the visit of the British royal family to South Africa.

The obverse of the coins depicts the same bust of President Kruger which appeared on the reverse of the £1 and £1/2 and later R2 and R1 gold coins from 1952 to 1982.

The 50th anniversary 'privy' or 'mint' mark was developed as a key identifier for all the collectable 2017 Krugerrand coins.

This exclusive privy mark depicts a large numerical fifty, encircled by the words "1967-2017" at the top and "Year Anniversary" along the bottom, to read: "1967-2017 50 Year Anniversary". The mark can be found above the rear of the iconic prancing springbok on all 2017 proof and premium uncirculated Krugerrand coins.

The mark is applied to the entire 2017 proof, premium uncirculated and the highly-limited World Money Fair 2017 1/10 oz gold bullion coins.

A MODERN DAY CLASSIC

To pay homage to 50 years of numismatic excellence, the designers at the SA Mint undertook an intensive re-examination of the original Krugerrand. Taking into account both the coin's history and future, they sought to bring refreshed nuance and elegance to this globally recognised design.

By using modern techniques and approaches, the designers were able to re-introduce and enhance details that had been lost over the decades. The result of this renewal is a design with increased definition, detail and artistic vibrancy.

These improvements can be noted in the sharpness seen, for instance, in the Aloe and the landscape detailing.

Because of this approach, our 2017 50th anniversary collection is a range that is more distinctive and illustrious than any we have been able to produce thus far. It is this continuation of our legacy of craftsmanship that has kept the Krugerrand at the forefront of global gold coin production, making it better and more detailed than ever.
